CM to contest two seats

To file papers on Apr. 20, 23

Bengaluru, Apr. 13 (KMS& BCT)- A communication sent to journalists by Chief Minister's Office (CMO) in Bengaluru this morning said that Chief Minister Siddharamaiah is likely to contest from Chamundeshwari as well as Badami in Bagalkot District. "The CM is likely to file his nomination from Chamundeshwari on Apr. 20 and from Badami on Apr. 23," the CMO communication read. [See also Page 4]

Following the communication, it is almost certain that Siddharamaiah will adopt a "two-seat strategy" and the same is likely to be approved by the Congress high command. The Central Election Authority (CEA) of the Congress has begun its meeting this morning at 10 Janpath, the residence of Sonia Gandhi.

Head of Screening Committee of the CEA Madhusudhan Mistry is chairing the meeting that is also attended by senior AICC leaders. The CM is also attending the meeting along with AICC General Secretary in-charge of Karnataka K.C. Venugopal.

Sources told Star of Mysore that Siddharamaiah is set to have his way with the first list of candidates. Before attending the meeting, the CM had a one-on-one meeting with Congress President Rahul Gandhi to iron out the differences between him (CM), Energy Minister D.K. Shivakumar and KPCC President Dr. G. Parameshwara who have drawn separate candidate lists.

Autocracy in Democracy

Leaders of the land's political parties, both national and regional, have smeared themselves in black by not conducting themselves in a manner that behoves democratically elected representatives to the nation's highest law-making body, the Parliament. The entire three-week session for debating and deciding on many important bills and also the nation's budget proposal for 2018-19 witnessed a logjam only for the second time in the history of India's seven-decade young Parliament, the previous occasion being some two decades ago. The members of the opposition parties in the august body didn't find it unbecoming of them in their chosen path of raising high-decibel voice by rushing into the Well of the House in a blatant show of disrespect to its presiding Chairperson in spite of repeated appeals not to disrupt the proceedings of the House. In a certain sense, the country's Parliament witnessed autocracy of the opposition by staging a bandh.

The most important feature of a democracy, according to the knowledgeable fraternity, is to express dissent for whatever stand the government of the day takes on any matter, but by taking part in debates on issues conforming to order and decency of expressing views. Show of anger by raising anti-government slogans in high decibel voice has no place in Parliamentary democracy.

Every time the Election Commission of India announces the schedule of events connected with polls in the country, the leaders of political parties of all hues and their followers, most of them hired for the occasion lose no time in their customary acts of violating the diktats under the model code of conduct, their various unlawful acts being common knowledge among people across all sections of society. One of the most unacceptable actions by one or the other political parties frequently resorted to is the call for bandh (halt to life of people unlike in normal days). The forces that hold the land's public to ransom by calling for bandh don't have the elementary sense of courtesy to their fellow citizens who take the brunt of hardship burdened on them for no fault of theirs.

In a welcome move, the Karnataka High Court has directed the Karnataka Government to keep the law-monitoring body informed about the steps the Government has taken during bandhs so that public are not affected. The passive attitude of public towards the acts of bandhwalas is their strength of autocracy in our democracy.

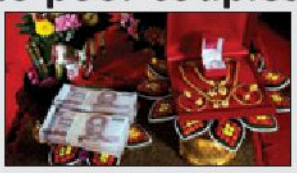
Renting dowry to poor couples!



Bangkok: Chiang Mai-based special event company Romantiese has been making news headlines in Thailand for their newest service — a dowry rental option for couples who can't afford to properly honour their parents on their wedding day.

Coconuts Bangkok reports that Romantiese rents out up to THB10 million ($320,000) in cash and gold bars up to a 100-baht weight, to couples who can afford the required fee. Romantiese owners, Tawan Supanontakorn, 31, and his wife Kangkai, 28, told Thai website Sanook that the new service was inspired by their own wedding experience. To emphasize that no one can actually use rented items to make purchases of any kind, the two Romantiese owners said that the contract clearly states that no one, not even the newlyweds, may even touch the rented items at any point during the wedding. They are simply there to be admired by wedding guests and can only be handled by Romantiese staff.

Addicted rats consume 540 kg of cannabis

Buenos Aires: Police inspectors in Pilar, Argentina's Buenos Aires Province, were recently questioned about the disappearance of 540kg of marijuana from the evidence room, and the best explanation they could come up with was that addicted rats ate it all.

It started in April 2017, when Commissioner Emilio Portero relieved his partner Javier Specia, Head of the Police Dept. in Pilar. Protocol dictates that in the case of a transfer of command, inventory left in the hands of his successor of another unit be signed. Although the inventory was allegedly conducted, it was never signed by Specia, which made Portero suspicious. He notified the Division of Internal Affairs, which conducted an official inventory.After checking everything in the evidence room, Judge Adrián González Charvay opened an investigation and cited Commissioner Specia and three of his subordinates to testify for the missing drugs. Interestingly, they all offered the same alibi – that the 540 kg of marijuana had all been consumed by rats. Internal Affairs conducted another investigation to find out the truth and claims, but didn't find any evidence that might suggest that the rats were indeed responsible for the disappearance of such a large quantity of drugs.

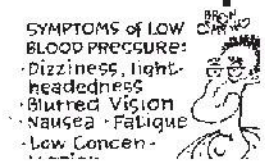
How low is too low for diastolic blood pressure?



When diastolic blood pressure drops below 60, it is in the low range. As we age, blood vessels become stiffer, which tends to cause the systolic (the upper number) to rise and the diastolic (the lower number) to fall.

Income from meridians

Sir,

It is good to see that many roads in and around Mysuru are getting upgraded to double roads. But such good roads have badly maintained meridians because of the growth of wild plants and due to apathy of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) engineers.

With transparent and corruption free approach, the MCC can yield additional income by offering these meridians for advertisement boards through e-tender.

By doing so, apart from giving a facelift to the roads and the meridians, the free and dangerous movement of the pedestrians can also be curtailed. And MCC can easily augment its income without any additional expense or investment.

Siddharamaiah to contest from Chamundeshwari and Badami

But Congress high command reluctant to accept 'two-seat strategy'

Bengaluru, Apr. 13 (KMS& BCT)- Faced with a formidable challenge in his home turf Chamundeshwari, Chief Minister Siddharamaiah is said to have decided to contest from Badami in Bagalkot District, considered a 'safe constituency.' Badami has a large number of Kuruba community voters, the caste to which Siddharamaiah belongs.

Siddharamaiah held a meeting with sitting Badami MLA B.B. Chimmanakatti yesterday and persuaded him to vacate the constituency for him. Chimmanakatti, who was reluctant to part with the constituency, was reportedly assured of a nomination to the Upper House in the event of the party returning to power. Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) Working President S R Patil, too, was present at the meeting.

Kharge opposes move

Party sources said a section of Congress leaders, including Mallikarjun Kharge, is opposing the idea of the CM contesting from two constituencies, stating it would send a wrong signal before the elections.

Kharge feels that contesting from a second seat may send a wrong signal to voters in Mysuru region who may see it as a weakening of his hold. However, the Congress claimed that North Karnataka Congress leaders voluntarily met Siddharamaiah and urged him to contest from Badami, as it would help the party in the region.

CM, Parameshwara to contest only one seat

Reports from New Delhi that has been published in a section of press today, however, said that the Congress High Command has shot down the proposal of Siddharamaiah and KPCC President Dr. G. Parameshwara to contest from two seats. The party has decided to reject all proposals and will give an opportunity to other leaders to contest.

Sources said that the party High Command has conveyed to Siddharamaiah that he can choose either Chamundeshwari or Badami. The CM believes that contesting from Chamundeshwari would also help his son, a political greenhorn, to win the elections.

The party feels that if it allows Siddharamaiah to contest from two seats, it will have to oblige Parameshwara too. And if it allows both these leaders, others will also start making similar demands. Besides, allowing top leaders to contest from two seats will give ammunition to political opponents to attack the ruling party saying that their leaders are on the back-foot in the elections, the party feels.

Fake MLC gives Police the slip at Chitradurga

Conman L. Somanna escapes in the guise of attending nature's call; scales 20-ft wall with handcuffs on Mysuru, Apr. 13 (RK&BCT)- Conman L. Somanna, who had earlier posed himself as a MLC and was arrested by the Basaveshwaranagar Police, escaped from their custody during a property recovery process in Chitradurga. The accused, Somanna, had deceived several people of crores of rupees by posing himself as an MLC and a potential MLA candidate from Mysuru.

Somanna had cheated a Mysuru-based insurance agent and business consultant of Rs. 1,49,99,400 in the name of purchasing gold ornaments from him to be distributed among voters. He had also conned a cloth merchant in Bengaluru.

Somanna, who claims to be a resident of Sardar Vallabh Bhai Patel Nagar on T. Narsipur Road in Mysuru, had set up his base at Godrej Apartments in Sahakaranagar on Ballari Road in Bengaluru. Dressed in white attire with bodyguards following him, Somanna used to lead a lavish lifestyle.

Investigation had revealed that Somanna had cheated businessmen in Mysuru and Bengaluru to the tune of several crores of rupees. He would place orders for mangalsutras, gold chains, and other wedding-related items and later flee with the booty. He had also approached a few bank managers stating that he wanted lower denomination currencies to distribute to voters and had cheated a few banks.

The Police said that Somanna was taken to Chitradurga to recover gold he had pledged with pawn brokers there. As he was taken to a jewellery shop at Holalkere in Chitradurga yesterday evening, he requested the Police that he wanted to attend nature's call. The Police let him go to the washroom that was behind the jewellery shop. They, however, had allowed him with his handcuffs on. They also sent a Constable with him.

As he neared the washroom, Somanna saw a stool placed by the side of the compound wall. He pushed the Constable and climbed the stool to scale the compound wall. The Constable immediately rushed to the shop and told his seniors that Somanna had fled.

The team rushed behind the shop to discover that Somanna had climbed the stool and used a pipe to scale the wall that is over 20 feet high. After climbing the wall, he jumped on to another building and scaled down the wall using a mesh-like object.

The Police suspect that Somanna would have passed on the information of his coming to Holalkere and his associates could have been waiting for him with a vehicle near the jewellery shop for him to flee.

Basaveshwaranagar Police, who had taken him into custody, were to produce him before the Court today. The Police have filed a missing complaint with Chitradurga Police where the incident took place.

Basaveshwaranagar Police along with Chitradurga Police have launched a manhunt.

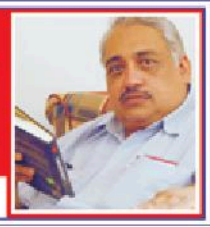
Over a cup of evening Tea



By Dr. K. Javeed Nayeem, MD

Nine unique Brand Ambassadors!

A very unique event that took place in Namma Mysuru last Friday touched my heart very much and I'm sure it is going to touch yours too. Mi, a mobile phone company which hitherto used to sell all its products only online, launched a chain of thirteen retail showrooms across the length and breadth of our city. Although this launch was like the launch of any other new business venture, what set it apart was the fact that every one of those thirteen sales outlets were inaugurated not by any celebrities, business tycoons or political bigwigs but by nine visually challenged students!

Every one of these humble brand ambassadors was escorted by the organisers and conveyed to and from the venues by cabs. But the assistance that they required or that was forced upon them was just minimal. Holding hands with one another, they walked across cobblestones and steps without faltering or stumbling, with the leading individual softly whispering warnings that were serially conveyed to the last in line! Perhaps out of sheer necessity they have developed such camaraderie and coordination that it can put to shame the lack of coordination that we the so-called normal human beings exhibit so often.

The primary objective of the event was to deviate from the age-old tradition of inviting only famous personalities who naturally make an impact and help promote business with their image. The company instead wanted to honour and highlight people who are doing exceedingly well in their pursuits despite the hurdles they are facing.

Why blind students, you may ask! The first week of April is 'Blindness Prevention Awareness Week' and so this coincidence was considered very apt! A tie-up was made with 'Anuprayaas,' an NGO that is working towards creating public spaces that are easy to access and easy to navigate through for people with visual impairment. Most of us may not know that 'Anuprayaas' has already worked on the Mysuru Railway Station which has now become the country's first blind-friendly Railway Station.

They have similarly worked on many schools and are currently involved in making many more Railway Stations across the country blind-friendly. Perhaps some of us too can join hands with them!

Another unique effort at Suttur!

It is a well-known fact that students who join new courses in new colleges often feel lost and anchor-less for many weeks or months. While there is nothing surprising about this transient experience it often leaves a good many of them feeling lost, home-sick and sometimes more than a little dejected and depressed too.

This often sets many of them wondering whether they have made the correct choice in choosing to be where they stand now. To prevent their 'freshers' from feeling this emotional and psychological stress, the JSS Medical College since the past two years has been organising a very unique two-day programme called the 'Medical Students' Retreat' at the very scenic and tranquil, riverside village of Suttur not too far from the city. It is needless to say that nothing could have been a better locale for the atmosphere and the environment matter a lot for this kind of an exercise.

And, when we talk of exercise, this residential programme is an ideal mix of exercise for both the brain and the body. It includes early morning Meditation, Yoga and day-long sessions of lectures on time management, inter-personal relations, ethics in medical practice, medico-legal issues, leadership development, social service, spirituality and Indian culture. Last Saturday I had been invited there to speak on 'The Past, the Present and the Future of Medical Practice,' a very volatile topic from the standpoint of where we doctors stand today, surrounded by sharp contrasts, conflicting values and difficult choices.

I noticed from the programme sheet that some very notable individuals both from within the medical fraternity and outside it too had been invited as speakers and I'm sure they would have made a very good and lasting impact on the young and expectant minds of the budding doctors.

A feathered friend !

The Karanji Lake has always been a favourite feeding and nesting place in our city for birds of various kinds. Many peacocks too are found here although they are usually quite shy and elusive always being very wary of the humans who go there for relaxation or recreation.

Two days ago as my wife and I were seated on one of the many stone benches there after our morning walk, we suddenly found that one very majestic peacock alighted at our feet almost startling us! It was so much at ease that I could pull out my mobile phone and click quite a few pictures of it pecking away, completely unmindful of our presence. Perhaps enjoying the importance it was getting from this photo session it decided that it could offer us a better pose and hopped onto the very bench we were seated on enabling me to almost take a 'selfie' with it!

Beat the Heat with Special Tender Coconut Concoction

Mysuru, Apr.13 (MTY&NNN)- The cultural capital of the State, which was once considered an air-conditioned city, is seeing a sea-change in weather condition, especially during summer. Day-by-day temperature is soaring high and people are trying to quench their thirst by trying out various kinds of cool drinks.

This year, people began to experience heat from February itself, with temperatures touching 37 to 38 degree celsius. However, during the same time last year (2017) due to sufficient rains, there was a dip in temperature. But this year, the temperature has gone up considerably and people especially the children and the aged prefer to remain indoors during afternoons.

People are experiencing sweating in the city that is normally associated with coastal towns and cities and in the northern part of the country where there is extremities in the temperature.

From the beginning of April itself, 37 to 38 degree celsius is recorded. This is an indication that the temperature is likely to soar further. If it does not rain then there is a chance of temperature touching 40 degrees.

Cool drinks and tender coconut

One of the best ways to beat the heat is to consume a lot of fluids as the body is dehydrated. And this is the season when people make a beeline to cool drink parlours, tender coconut sellers and juice centres and all of them are doing good business. The price of tender coconut has gone up from Rs. 25 to Rs. 40.

Tender coconut juice

There is a demand for tender coconut and Kokum (Punarpuli) juice which 'Lakshmi Tiffanys,' a hotel on Tyagaraja Road near Agrahara Circle, run by Mallesh, specialises.

The ingredients for this tender coconut juice that is in great demand includes lemon juice, glucose and basil (sabja) seeds. This is the only hotel that serves this summer special tender coconut concoction and people from across the city come here just to savour this sharbat.

'If rain fails temperature will rise to 40 degree celsius'

If we do not receive rainfall shortly, the temperature is likely to touch 40 degree celsius. It had rained about 10 mm to 20 mm last month and the water did not percolate to the soil but instead evaporated resulting in humidity. Hence, even if the temperature is 37 degrees, the feeling is as if the temperature has touched 40 degree celsius. The trend is that there is a chain like cloud formation over the Arabian Sea. Wherever the clouds gather it condenses and there is sporadic rain. If it does not condense, then the clouds move to South interior Karnataka. There is a fluctuation in temperature and if at night it comes down to 36 degree celsius, in the morning it again goes up by a degree up to noon. However, the reason why we feel hotter in the afternoon is because there is no wind movement and hence the relative humidity in temperature goes up.

Thailand farmer Jon Jandai interacts with organic farmers

Thailand farmer Jon Jandai in an interaction session with organic farmers, organised by Belavala Foundation and Sahaja Seeds at the Belavala Organic Farm in Belagola near city this morning, as his wife Peggy and others look on.

Mysuru, Apr.13 (RKB&NNN)- "I grew up in poverty in my village and like any villager dreamed big of the city life. I went to Bangkok and was overwhelmed by its glitz, glamour and the rich people. But I could not live there for long and returned to my village," said Thailand farmer Jon Jandai.

He was sharing his experience at an interaction session with organic farmers organised by Belavala Foundation and Sahaja Seeds at the Belavala Organic Farm in Belagola near here this morning.

"After I returned, I decided to take up farming. I would go and collect cow dung to use it as manure to grow vegetables in a patch of land I owned. But the villagers thought I was crazy as I used cow dung. They complained to my mother that I was of unsound mind. But I did not care and continued using natural farming methods. Within six months I grew a lot and the same people who were criticising me started praising me," he said.

Jandai who hails from Yasothorn Province, inaugurated the interaction by lighting a earthen lamp and has been farming all his life, started building earthen homes on his family farm in 1997. "Just as birds build their own nests we can also build our own homes using naturally available materials which is called earthen homes," he said.

"We are starting a 'Seed Movement' to fight against the onslaught of multi-nationals. We are also having a seed festival, seed exchange and interaction between seed savers and Jon Jandai," said Sahaja Seeds' Krishna Prasad.

There was a festive atmosphere in the air as organic farming exhibition and exchange of ideas between the farmers was also organised at the venue. All the organically grown vegetables, fruits, seeds were on display.

Organic farmers Shivakumar from Chamarajanagar, Hoysala S. Appaji from Holenarasipur, Rechanna from Hosamalangi, Arul Swamy from Kollegal, Vishakante Gowda and Govinda Shetty from Arepalya are all participating in the exhibition. They are displaying varieties of millets, quinoa, tomato seeds of cherry red and cherry green varieties, water apple, rose apple, varieties of paddy, organic mango varieties like Alphonso, Neelam, Thotapuri, Badami and Kumkum variety tomato to name a few.

Jandai, who co-founded Pun Pun Centre for Self-reliance, an organic farm outside Chiang Mai and who is interested in preserving heritage in seeds, is accompanied by his American wife Peggy and son Than.

The Belavala Organic farm in Belagola is owned by Joint Director Horticulture (Retd.) Dr. Ramakrishnappa. Jon Jandai will visit the local fruits and vegetables wholesale market and Chamundi Hill tomorrow.

Wait for HC order: SC tells Vijayashreepura residents

Mysuru, Apr.13 (RK&DM)- The Supreme Court (SC) today directed the Vijayashreepura residents to wait till the Karnataka High Court disposes of their petition on July 4, 2018.

Hearing a batch of writ petitions and appeals filed by Vijayashreepura residents, who are desperately trying to save their houses from demolition, a Single Judge Bench of the Apex Court comprising Justice Ranjan Gogoi said that the Karnataka High Court has been asked to adjudicate the cases and the SC has been told that the Karnataka HC has posted hearing of the same for July 4.

Justice Gogoi asked the petitioners (Vijayashreepura residents in Mysuru) to wait till the Karnataka HC passes its order on July 4 and forward the Karnataka HC ruling to the Apex Court by the end of July, it is learnt.

It may be mentioned here that the SC on Jan.12 had given time till April for Karnataka HC to adjudicate the cases and had posted the next hearing in the case for today (April 13).

Senior advocate B. Parthasarathy represented the residents. Vijayashreepura residents Javaregowda and Subbegowda were present at the SC when the Court took up the hearing this morning.

CM to contest two seats

Sources said 90% of the first Congress list of 136 candidates is likely to be released late this evening and it will be full of CM's nominees. Another source said that the list will only be out on Apr. 14 or 15. The CEA that met late last night to finalise the candidate list will discuss the list with Siddharamaiah.

At the screening committee meetings, many AICC members expressed reservations about the CM's publicly expressed desire to vacate his sitting seat Varuna and fight from Chamundeshwari seat, considered 'risky' given the influence JD(S) has in the constituency dominated by Vokkaligas. "The CEA will take the final call," said a party leader.

Some proposals have also reached the CEA suggesting that the party not give tickets to the children/ spouses — other than those who are already MLAs — of sitting Congress MLAs. Sources said that if this proposal is accepted, it can serve many purposes — of Siddharamaiah's ticket-aspiring son Yathindra pulling out thus giving the CM an option of contesting from both his sitting seat (Varuna), and if he still persists, from Chamundeshwari as well.

Kollegal Cong. ticket aspirant dies

Chamarajanagar, Apr. 13- Puttabuddi (57), a Congress ticket aspirant from Kollegal (SC) Assembly segment, died of cardiac arrest this morning.

Puttabuddi, a ZP member from Santemarahalli in Chamarajanagar taluk, was said to be a keen aspirant for the party ticket. He is said to have suffered a massive heart attack this morning and was rushed to Chamarajanagar district hospital, where he died, it is learnt.

Gruha Pravesha at B.Y. Vijayendra's Varuna house

Probable BJP candidate from Varuna B.Y. Vijayendra and his wife Prema perform the Gruha Pravesha of their new house in Varuna village this morning. Henceforth, Vijayendra will be staying in this house which he has rented so that it will be easy for him to coordinate with party workers. Picture right shows the spacious house that has facilities for accommodation and also to hold meetings. Vijayendra is likely to face Chief Minister Siddharamaiah's son Dr. Yathindra in Varuna.

CM Siddharamaiah meets Revanasiddaiah in Bengaluru

CM Siddharamaiah with former IPS officer L. Revanasiddaiah and his son Rakesh Revanasiddaiah at the latter's residence in Bengaluru.

Mysuru, Apr. 13 (BCT)- Chief Minister Siddharamaiah met former IPS officer L. Revanasiddaiah, a prominent Lingayat leader, at his (Revanasiddaiah) house in Bengaluru yesterday to bridge the gap between them.

Revanasiddaiah is reportedly upset with the CM for neglecting him and his community though he (Revanasiddaiah) had helped the CM in a series of electoral victories in Varuna.

It may be recalled here that last week, probable BJP candidate for Varuna B.Y. Vijayendra met Revanasiddaiah at his house on the outskirts of Mysuru and sought his support for the elections. Soon after his visit, Siddharamaiah's son Dr. Yathindra, who is likely to contest from Varuna, trooped in to meet Revanasiddaiah and seek his support.

Now, it is the turn of Siddharamaiah to meet the former Director General and Inspector General of Police. The CM called on Revanasiddaiah at his house in Whitefield before leaving to New Delhi from the HAL Airport at 2.30 pm to meet the party High Command leaders and to finalise the party candidates list.

Sources told Star of Mysore that the CM was given a warm welcome at Revanasiddaiah's house and the meeting was held between the CM, Revanasiddaiah and his son Rakesh Revanasiddaiah. The CM also had lunch at Revanasiddaiah's house.

Sources said that the CM told the former Police officer that his son Yathindra was contesting from Varuna and he needs his (Revanasiddaiah's) support. He requested Revanasiddaiah to bury past differences and help his son to win the election.

Revanasiddaiah told the CM that he and his supporters had worked for his electoral victory in Varuna in 2006, 2008 and 2013. Despite this, the CM had neglected him (Revanasiddaiah) and had not bothered to recognise his contributions, sources revealed.

Revanasiddaiah conveyed the displeasure of the Lingayat community over the neglect of their leader (Revanasiddaiah) "I never hankered for political posts. But I felt neglected despite all the efforts that helped you to reap political gains for over 12 years. How could you, being in the top post in the State, forget the contributions of the community," Revanasiddaiah questioned the CM, sources said.

Expressing his displeasure over being sidelined, Revanasiddaiah told the CM that he had dedicated his entire energy and mobilised the community that helped the CM win the elections in Varuna. Revanasiddaiah asked the CM to come to Varuna and meet his (Revanasiddaiah) supporters and discuss the issues.

Responding to Revanasiddaiah, the CM asked the former IPS officer to forget the differences and help Yathindra to win the elections. Revanasiddaiah replied that the call will be taken by his community members at Varuna, sources said.

Following the discussion between the CM and Revanasiddaiah, it was decided that a meeting will be organised at Varuna either on Sunday (Apr. 15) or Monday (Apr. 16) and the CM will attend it along with Revanasiddaiah.

Ramya draws flak for taking TN's side

Mysuru, Apr. 13 - Divya Spandana (Ramya, who is leading the Congress' social media campaign, yesterday drew flak for re-tweeting a news report with a hashtag that asked Prime Minister Narendra Modi to "go back" from Chennai.

Ramya

Re-tweeting a news report about Modi coming under criticism from local Tamil Nadu (TN) parties over his 'security' arrangements, while protesters in Chennai were on the streets fighting for the Cauvery Management Board (CMB), Ramya used the hashtag #GoBackModi.

The tweet, which had garnered more than 420 replies by evening, saw people criticising her for taking Tamil Nadu's side on the Cauvery issue.

Twitterati, critical of her comment, saw the Centre's decision to delay the formation of the CMB as favouring Karnataka and accused her of taking TN's side by arguing in favour of the protesters there.

While some accused her of using the Cauvery issue for political mileage, others said she did not fully understand the issue at hand.

In Mysuru, the BJP members staged a protest against Ramya at Rajkumar Park near Kote Anjaneyaswamy Temple yesterday. MP Pratap Simha said that Ramya and the Congress were supporting the cause of Tamil Nadu.

In his tweet, he said 'Loud and Clear@INCIndia supports Cauvery Management Board! Shame on your traitor @INC Karnataka. Beware Kannadigas'.

Heavy rain lashes Madikeri

Madikeri, Apr.13- After a long gap, rain, accompanied by strong wind, lashed Madikeri and surrounding areas yesterday evening. Due to the rain and wind, a huge tree along Madikeri-Somwarpet Road was uprooted and fell on the road, which disrupted vehicular movement for over two hours.

The strong wind also brought down a few electric poles, disrupting power supply to surrounding villages such as Makkandur, Kandanakolli and Mukkodlu.

In Madikeri town, several vehicles were reported to have got struck in the slush caused by the ongoing UGD pipeline works. Even pedestrians had a tough time in coping with heavy rain and wind.

Sunrisers score dramatic one-wicket victory over MI

Hyderabad, Apr.13- It was one of the best matches in IPL history for neutral fans to cherish, as Billy Stanlake hit the final ball for four to seal a dramatic one-wicket victory for Sunrisers Hyderabad over Mumbai Indians. The last wicket pair of 23-year-old Australian bowler Stanlake along with partner Deepak Hooda (32 not out) steered SRH to their second straight win. Reigning champions Mumbai Indians, meanwhile, lost their second straight game by a one-wicket margin having been beaten by CSK in the opening match on Apr.7 and as for SRH, they have now won both their matches.

MI scored 147 for eight wickets in their allotted 20 overs and SRH ended up overhauling the score at 151 for 9 wickets.

SRH were cruising towards their victory target of 148 at 73-2 in the eighth over before a collapse made it an exciting finish.

Hyderabad bowlers did their job in restricting MI to 147-8 with wickets at regular intervals having lost the toss without injured leading bowler Bhuvneshwar.

Siddarth Kaul, Sandeep Sharma and Billy Stanlake all picked up two wickets each while Rashid Khan and Shakib Al Hasan also bagged a scalp apiece. Evin Lewis top scored for the MI with 29 from 17 balls while all-rounder Hardik Pandya missed out due to injury.

Shikhar Dhawan got Sunrisers off to a flier in their run chase but was dismissed by Mayank Markande for 45 from 28 balls.

Hooda hit a six from Ben Cutting before a couple of hasty singles and then Stanlake's killer blow off the final delivery of an epic IPL clash.

Arjun Devaiah inaugurates badminton tourney

Mysuru, Apr. 13 (MTY&DM)- International Athlete Arjun Devaiah inaugurated the three-day district-level Badminton tournament organised by Kodava Samaja Cultural and Sports Club in association with Mysuru District Badminton Association (MDBA) at University of Mysore (UoM) Indoor Badminton Court here this morning.

Recalling his journey, Devaiah said that he took to sports at a rather late age of 21 years.

Maintaining that there are no short cuts to success and it is only hard work, determination and dedication, coupled with physical fitness that will shape a complete sports person, he stressed on the need for children to show interest in sports as well along with academics.

Underlining the role of coaches in shaping sport persons, he said that although tough training sessions takes a lot of physical and mental stress, they are vital for a sport person to make big at national and international levels.

Pointing out that he has counselled hundreds of parents and children from all walks of life on taking up sports, Olympian Devaiah said it was important that parents encourage children to take up sports at a young age.

UoM PE Director Krishnaiah, MDBA Secretary S.G. Prabhu, Mysuru Kodava Samaja President B.M. Nanaiah, Kodava Samaja Cultural and Sports Club President M.P. Nanaiah, Vice-President K.D. Muthappa, Secretary K.N. Kushalappa and others were present.

Nearly 300 badminton players from five districts — Mysuru, Mandya, Kodagu, Chamarajanagar and Hassan — are taking part in this 3-day tournament, which concludes on Apr. 15.

The tournament is conducted for Boys & Girls under five categories based on age.

'Not interested in politics'

"I am not at all interested in politics," said Arjun Devaiah when SOM spoke to him on the sidelines of the tournament as there were speculations that the BJP was considering his name for Virajpet Assembly segment.

Devaiah said all the three major parties were inviting him to join their respective parties since a few years. But he has kept away from politics, as politics is not the only way for addressing public issues.

Stating that he was personally opposed to nominating sportspersons to Rajya Sabha as it would serve no purpose, the Arjuna awardee said that it would be better to nominate sportspersons for sport representative bodies in the better interest of sports promotion.

KARNATAKA ASSEMBLY POLLS - 2018

Periyapatna headed for a triangular contest

K. Venkatesh

K. Mahadev

S. Manjunath

Shambulingappa

K.S. Shashikumar

Prakash Babu Rao

H.D.Ganesh

Periyapatna, Apr. 13 (Veeresh)- Periyapatna Constituency in the district, bordering Kodagu, is almost certain to witness a triangular fight between the Congress, JD(S) and the BJP in the coming Assembly polls.

With the announcement of the poll schedule, campaigning by political parties in favour of their candidates and ticket aspirants is going on in full swing in the constituency, which is famous for tobacco cultivation.

Out of the 14 elections held so far since 1952, the Congress has won seven times, Janata Parivar four times, BJP once and Independent candidates have won twice. Incumbent MLA from Congress K. Venkatesh, has won five out of the seven times he had contested, thrice as Janata Parivar candidate and twice as Congress candidate.

Venkatesh who had identified himself with the Janata Parivar, crossed over to the Congress with CM Siddharamaiah more than a decade ago. K. Venkatesh who scored a hat-trick of wins by getting elected in 2004, 2008 and 2013 is all set to contest on a Congress ticket once again in the May 12 Assembly polls.

The other notable winners from this Constituency were K.S. Kalamarigowda, who won in 1978, 1983 and 1989 and H.M. Channabasappa, who won in 1967 and 1972. In the 2008 and 2013 elections, K. Venkatesh contesting on a Congress ticket won with a slender margins of 757 and 2,088 votes respectively, defeating his nearest rival K. Mahadev of the JD(S).

The BJP which won the seat only once in 1999, with H.C. Basavaraj being the winner, the party has failed to make any significant impact in this Assembly segment.

With the announcement of the poll schedule, the Congress has declared sitting MLA K. Venkatesh as its candidate, while the JD(S) has announced the candidature of K. Mahadev, who lost very narrowly to Venkatesh in the two previous Assembly polls (2008 & 2013).

As far as the BJP is concerned, the party is yet to name its candidate. BJP State Council Member H.D. Ganesh, businessman S. Manjunath, District Medical Cell Convenor Dr. Prakash Babu Rao, leaders K.S. Shashikumar and Shambulingappa are the front runners for the party ticket.

H.D. Ganesh, who contested on a BJP ticket twice earlier, had secured 28,270 and 28,652 votes respectively. Enthused by his performance in the previous polls, Ganesh is full of hope that the party would allot the ticket to him.

Businessman S. Manjunath, a new entrant to politics, has already started campaigning in the constituency, hoping that the party would allot him the ticket.

Manjunath has already set up his own office in Periyapatna to facilitate his campaign. Former Minister and former MP C.H. Vijayashankar, who was with the BJP for over two decades and also a keen contender for the party ticket from Periyapatna quit the BJP recently to join the Congress as Manjunath set up his own office last year with an eye on BJP ticket. Apprehensive of not getting the BJP ticket, with Manjunath extensively touring the constituency, Vijayashankar quit the BJP to join Congress, it is learnt.

Although Periyapatna was not a party strong hold despite having won the seat once in 1999, the BJP is making all out efforts to win the seat and spread its wings into the rural hinterland of Mysuru district.

DCs, SPs of border districts hold meeting in Madikeri

Madikeri, Apr. 13- In view of the State Assembly polls, a meeting of Deputy Commissioners (DCs) and Superintendents of Police (SPs) of border districts of Karnataka and Kerala met at the Kodagu DC's office here on Wednesday, to chalk out plans for the May 12 elections.

The meeting was chaired by Kodagu DC P. I. Srividya.

Speaking at the meeting, Srividya said that people from Kerala's Kannur, Wayanad and Kasaragod districts bordering Karnataka have maintained trade and commerce relations with the district. As such it was important to put appropriate measures in place to ensure free and fair polls, she said.

Pointing out that inter-State check posts have been set up at Kutta, Makutta and Karike, she asked the officials to ensure that no illegal activities of any sort will take place.

DC Srividya also instructed the officials to issue press releases mentioning that there will be no document verification for cash upto Rs.50,000 and the people should carry supporting documents if they want to carry cash beyond Rs. 50,000. Also, the release should highlight restrictions on liquor and the rampant checks being carried out to prevent electoral malpractices.

Pointing out that people from Kerala will be bringing huge cash to get their wards admitted to professional courses in Karnataka, she said that such people must carry supporting documents to avoid hurdles.

She also suggested that it will be better for people to carry out cash transactions through banks rather than carrying cash.

SP Rajendra Prasad, in his address, said that Kutta, Makutta and Karike areas have been identified as sensitive ones.

Stating that inter-State check posts have been set up on roads leading to Kerala, he said that the personnel manning the check posts have been asked to be always alert.

The SP presented a power point presentation on the security measures taken.

Wayanad DC S. Suhas, Kasargod DC Jeevan Babu, Kannur Sub-Collector Chandrashekar, Kasaragod SP Simone, Kodagu ZP CEO Prashant Kumar Mishra, ADC D.M. Satishkumar, Dy.SP Sundarraj, Election Shirastedar Prakash, Arun Sagar, Anil Kumar and other officials were present.

Attention Diversion: Woman loses Rs. 1.75 lakh to miscreants

Mysuru, Apr. 13 (SBD&KS)- Miscreants have managed to decamp with Rs. 1.75 lakh of a woman after diverting her attention on Belavadi Main Road here on Wednesday.

The woman, who lost the money, has been identified as Shruthi, wife of an autorickshaw driver and a resident of Belavadi village.

On Wednesday, Shruthi withdrew Rs. 1.75 lakh from SBI Bank to purchase an autorickshaw and kept the cash in the boot of her Honda Activa scooter and was proceeding towards her home on Belavadi Main Road, when two miscreants on a bike approached her from behind told her that currency notes were falling from her scooter. Shruthi, who looked behind saw some currency notes fallen on the road.

The shocked Shruthi, then stopped her scooter, got down and went near the fallen currencies only to see seven currency notes of Rs. 10 denomination. She then picked up the currency notes and went to her scooter and opened the boot only to see Rs. 1.75 lakh cash she had withdrawn missing and lodged a complaint at Vijayanagar Police Station.

It is learnt that the lock of the scooter boot was not working and the miscreants must have observed Shruthi while she was withdrawing the cash, keeping it in the boot of the scooter and also trying to lock the boot and then diverted her attention to loot the cash.

If the Police check the footages of CCTV cameras installed on the route Shruthi had travelled, it would be easy for the cops to trace the miscreants.

Vijayanagar Police, who have registered a case in this regard, are investigating and have warned the public to be careful with strangers.

Advocate who assaulted cop gets bail

Mysuru, Apr. 13 (SPN&BCT)- The advocate, who had allegedly assaulted a City Armed Reserve (CAR) Police Constable, who was deployed for security at the City Court Complex on the night of Apr. 11 has been granted bail.

The advocate is Andani, a resident of Ashoka Road in city and the Constable is Sheik Sadiq.

According to Lakshmipuram Inspector Mahadeva Shetty, Advocate Andani had consumed liquor in the Court Complex premises and picked up a fight with Constable Sadiq over opening of the gate and assaulted Sadiq, thus preventing a Policeman from discharging his duties.

Later, both Andani and Sadiq were subjected to medical tests at K.R. Hospital.

The Police had registered a case under IPC Sections 353 (assault or criminal force to deter public servant from discharge of his duty), 341 (punishment for wrongful restraint), 332 (voluntarily causing hurt to deter public servant from his duty), 506 (punishment for criminal intimidation) and 504 (intentional insult with intent to provoke breach of the peace).

Police said that according to the medical test report from K.R. Hospital, it was confirmed that Andani had consumed liquor in excess and had assaulted the Constable. Inspector Mahadeva Shetty told SOM that a few advocates had the habit of bringing liquor to the Court complex premises and consume it. "The incident will be brought to the notice of the District Sessions Judge and steps will be taken to prevent advocates from consuming liquor inside the Court ," he said.

The Seventh Additional District and Sessions Court judge who heard the case yesterday sentenced Santosh. Public Prosecutor Mahantappa argued on behalf of the State.

WORD OF THE DAY

Mea Culpa

Pronunciation: Mey-uh-kuhl-puh,mee-uh (noun)

Meaning: An acknowledgment of one's responsibility for a fault or error. Or My fault! (used as an acknowledgment of one's responsibility).

Origin: Aging Roman Catholics who were altar boys before the liturgical reforms of the Second Vatican Council (1962-65) can recite from memory the formula from the Confiteor at the beginning of Mass: meā culpā, meā culpā, meā maximā culpā, traditionally translated "through my fault, through my most grievous fault." The Latin phrase was first used in the 13th century as an exclamation or interjection. The noun use of mea culpa, "acknowledgment of responsibility or guilt," arose in the 19th century.

THE ODD WORD

Balladmonger

An inferior poet.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Cry over spilled milk

Meaning: One shouldn't worry over things that have already happened and that cannot be changed.

Examples: While it's sad that the results have not been as good as you expected, you should now focus on moving ahead and achieving better results next time; there is no use crying over spilt milk. Or "It's no use crying over spilt milk – it was a bad investment, the money has been lost and there's nothing we can do."

Origin: The phrase is quite an old one but the origin is not very clear. In its present form, it has been in use since the late 1800s.

QUOTE BOX

The most wasted day of all is that on which we have not laughed.

—Nicolas Chamfort
